VCD Project Sheet

Green Business Travel

Project duration 06/2007–12/2008

Background

Transport Club Germany is an association for sustainable mobility and a major German transport and environmental organization.

In 2007, more than 166.6 million business trips have been undertaken by German companies with more than ten employees. About 48.7 billion euros were spent on business travel that year.

Business trips thus make up for a substantial segment of passenger transportation. The negative impact of traffic on people, the environment, and the climate demands change.

More and more companies share this insight. Therefore they are incorporating not only economic and quality criteria, but also ecological criteria into their travel management.

Apart from positive effects on employee motivation and on public relations, ecological travel management helps companies remain sustainable. Green business travel can also save time and money as well as increase the traveler safety.

Goals

Green Business Travel supports small and medium-sized enterprises (SME) in particular in their efforts towards sustainable business travel. The project’s goal is to raise awareness on environmentally friendly business travel – in the corporate world and among the general public – and to provide companies with concrete support for green travel management.

Toolkit

We have written and published a toolkit “Business Travel – enterprising, efficient, eco-friendly.” In it, companies can find tips and information to help them change their travel habits.

If a company wants to make its travel management more sustainable as a whole, it can follow the overall strategy and will find all encompassing information on:

- Travel avoidance
- The right means of transportation
- Compensation
- Travel execution and organization
- Motivation of employees and tips for a environmental management.

effective - efficient - sustainable.
A quickfind system makes it easy to find information in the 48 page-toolkit. Shaded boxes throughout the text showcase best practice examples. These demonstrate how green business travel works in other companies.

Furthermore, the CD at the back contains more in-depth information, checklists, service addresses, links and a cost calculator. The cost calculator can be downloaded from the website www.vcd.org/geschaeftsreisen.

An excerpt in English of 18 pages can also be downloaded from this website as well as the toolkit in German, which can be ordered for the cost of shipping and handling.

Contest
The CSR Mobility Award was launched in 2008 in cooperation with B.A.U.M., Europe’s first and largest initiative for sustainable business practice and the trade journal Der Mobilitätsmanager. The contest is a platform for companies to present innovative and green business travel practices. Best practice examples are published in the trade journal Der Mobilitätsmanager and at www.csr-award.de. At this website companies can apply, if they wish to participate in the contest.
